

CALL FOR PAPERS COVID-19 and its Impact on Children, Adolescents, and Their Families

The Journal of Pediatric Nursing is pleased to announce a special collection of articles focused on COVID-19 and its impact on children, adolescents, and their families worldwide. We are interested in papers that address issues worldwide to better understand the global consequences of the pandemic upon the international pediatric population. Additionally, we encourage papers that explore the consequential effects upon nurses and interprofessional providers who have provided and continue to provide pediatric services to children and adolescents ill or hospitalized with COVID.

We welcome research, clinical practice, reviews, and theoretical papers. Authors can include links to websites, applications, or demonstrations; video demonstrations up to 3 minutes; audio files; and multiple photos, forms, documents, or figures that illustrate the text (some of which may be online only).

Manuscripts should be submitted to
<https://www.editorialmanager.com/JPEDIATRNURS>. The guide for authors available there should be closely followed, and please indicate in the cover letter that the paper should be considered for the COVID-19 special issue.

Content queries and submission questions can be directed to Editor-in-Chief Cecily L. Betz, PhD, RN, FAAN, at cbetz@chla.usc.edu.